

Local Organization News

Mom... Guess What! Newspaper has long been the means by which lesbians and gays in Northern California have communicated with each other about the activities of our organizations. In order to provide our readers with information about these activities, we inaugurate this review of what is going on in greater Sacramento. Organizations are invited to send information about their activities to MGW by the 15th of each month. ■

Author of Harvey Milk Biography to Speak at CSUS

Randy Shilts, reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle and author of Mayor of Castro Street: The Life and Times of Harvey Milk, will speak at California State University on Thursday, November 11. His lecture, on "Gays and the News Media," is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Forest Suite on the third floor of the University Union.

A question-and-answer period will follow Shilts' talk, which will deal with some of his experiences and observations as the first openly gay reporter in the mainstream media. He will also discuss the research and writing of his biography of Harvey Milk, the gay San Francisco supervisor assassinated by Dan White.

The lecture is open without charge to all students and non-students. It is funded by a grant from the Activities Finance Council of the Associated Students, Inc. ■

Salon A Smash Success

One hundred and thirty women crowded into the home of Dr. Audrey Mertz on Saturday, October 16, for an evening of photographic appreciation and music. Billed as a Lesbian Feminist Photography Salon, the evening featured the works of four Sacramento-area photographers: Pat Gargaetas, JoEllen Arnold, Diana Netherland and Remy Ceci.

After an hour of viewing and piano entertainment, guests were able to bid in an auction of selected photographs from each photographer. The top seller was a Pat Gargaetas photograph that sold for $165. Fifty photographs were displayed, and a total of 12 were sold that evening. ■

Coming Out Topic of Parents' Meeting

"Coming Out To Parents" will be the subject of discussion at the November 2, 1982 meeting of Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays. Students from Greater Sacramento colleges will speak on this topic. Some of the items to be covered are: when to tell parents, how to tell parents, what kinds of reactions to expect.

The Sacramento Chapter of Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays meets the first Tuesday of each month at the Carmichael Presbyterian Church, 5645 Marconi Ave., Carmichael, at 7 p.m. The program includes time for parents to share experiences. In addition, it works to maintain and enhance the close and loving ties of family and friendship.

For more information, call Merrill Follansbee, 428-4348. ■

Men's Social Club Extends Invitation

Man Two Man is a social club designed to provide men, who want to form same-gender relationships, with an additional way to meet and socialize. The club is operated by Patlar Enterprises on a non-profit basis.

Members of the club believe that the development of meaningful friendships is enhanced by sharing life experiences. In the recent past, the members and their guests have shared various activities such as gold-panning on the American River, glider flying, dinner trips to San Francisco and potluck dinners.

Guests are encouraged to participate in club functions. There is no charge for guests to attend; however, a donation is requested. Membership information is available upon request. For information call 391-9755.

The current calendar of planned events is:

Dignity Women's Group Continues to Grow

Thirteen women attended the second monthly meeting/potluck of the Dignity Women's Group, held on Sunday, October 17 at a member's home. The group was formed as an outreach effort to include more women in the Sacramento chapter of Dignity, an international organization of gay and Lesbian Catholics and friends.

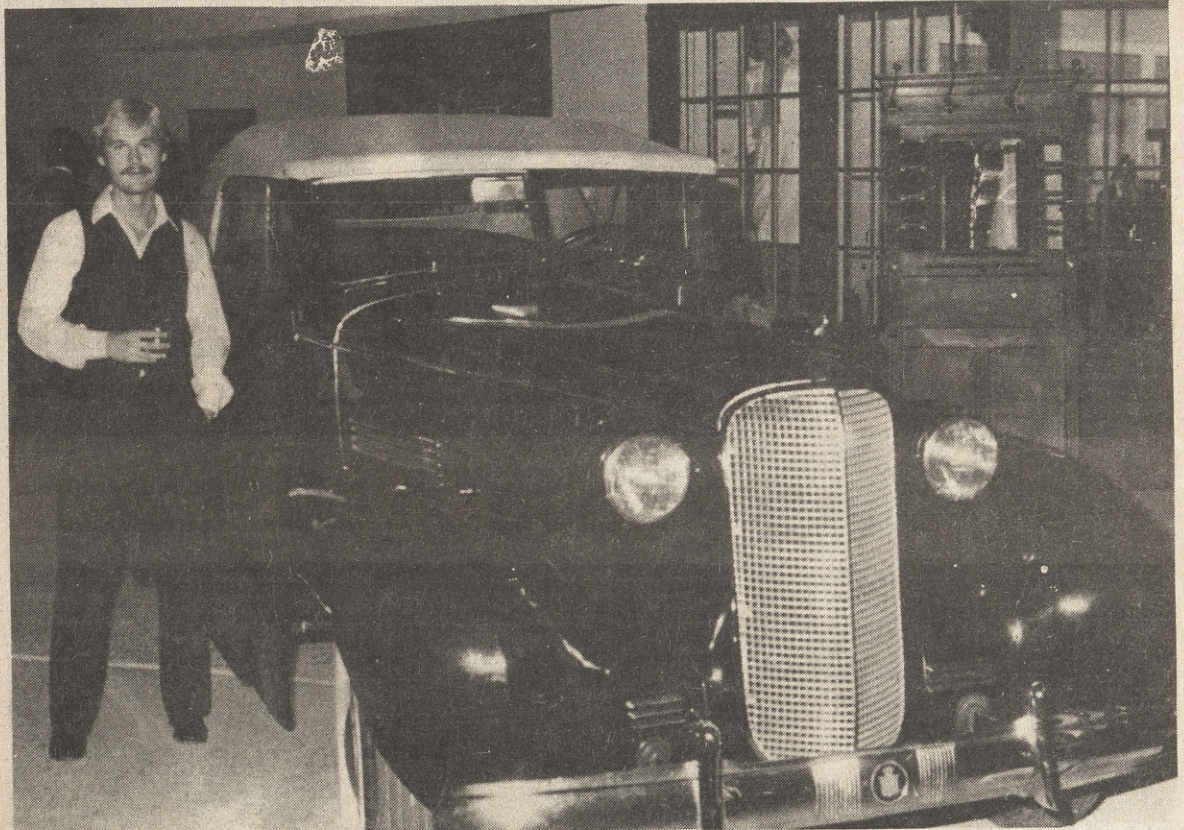

Also attending were Father Mel Bucher, the chaplain for Sacramento Dignity; Bill Stuart, Dignity co-chair; and other staff from St. Francis Church, host parish for Dignity.

Although sponsored by the Sacramento chapter of Dignity, the Women's Group's purpose is to address the spiritual concerns of all Lesbians, whether or not they have a Catholic background. The group's goals are still in the formative stage, and the current emphasis is on providing a supportive atmosphere for women to explore issues relating to spirituality, religious tradition, and the need for a spiritual community that addresses the concerns of Lesbians.

The next meeting of the Dignity Women's Group will be held on Sunday, November 21, from 5 - 8 p.m. For more information, contact Jill at 453-0217 or Alberta at 739-6891. ■

Group Seeks Papers on Anthropology and Homosexuality

The Anthropological Research Group on Homosexuality will hold a conference on May 6 and 7, 1983 on the campus of California State University, Sacramento. The conference organizers are seeking papers from Anthropology and related disciplines that deal with the social, political, and research aspects of the study of lesbianism and homosexuality. Papers may deal with the Western World, the Third World, or indigenous peoples. Anyone interested in presenting a paper, organizing a panel or reporting on work in progress should submit a 100 word abstract to: Dr. L. Heidecker, Mom... Guess What! staffer Steve Meredith proudly stands by a classic 1937 Cadillac convertible ready for auction at the recent KXPR-FM "Classic Party at the Village."

Hundreds of enthusiastic bugs along with University Village Merchants attended the fundraiser to help defray costs for moving KXPR's transmitter to a new location. Although the Cadillac and 450SL Mercedes Benz did not receive a bid, many items such as clothing, food, and fine wines went quickly making for a very festive evening.

ARGOH Conference, Dept. of Anthropology, CSUS, 6000 J St., Sacramento, CA 95819. Anyone seeking further information on the conference may also contact Dr. Heidecker at the above address. The conference will be hosted by the Sacramento Anthropological Society. Registration fees are $5 for ARGOH and SAS members, and $7.50 for the general public. ■

"Coming Out" Workshop Coming in December

Coming Out... a one evening workshop on the joys and traumas of coming out will be presented by Ed Hall and Bruce Gunn on Thursday, Dec. 9th from 7 to 10 p.m. Topics will include: Enhancing Self Esteem, Self Disclosing in a Healthful and Constructive Manner, Accepting Who You Are and Liking It, Experiencing the Exhilaration of Telling the Truth, Respecting One Another's Level of "Outness," Letting Someone Else Have the Anxiety Attack, and Taking Care of Your Own Hurt.

The workshop will be held in downtown Sacramento with enrollment limited to a maximum of 10 gay men at a cost of $15 per person. To enroll or obtain additional information, call Ed at 484-1212 or Bruce at 443-7171. Enrollment checks may be made out to Ed Hall, Ph.D. and mailed to him at 2222 Watt Ave., Suite B14, Sacramento, CA 95825. ■

by Annemarie Colby

Some members of the lesbian community will be among those selling their art work at a December 4th and 5th show entitled "Handmade for the Holidays."

The show will feature original ceramics, photography, children's toys, jewelry, clocks, cutting boards and Christmas ornaments.

The event is especially designed for those who seek an alternative to the shopping centers for their holiday gift search. Items are priced between $2 and $100, depending on your taste and/or pocketbook.

Artists to be featured include Karen Adler, Carol Shearly, Jane Williams, Tom Williams, Meredith Nelson, Kelly Keleher and Robin DeVerna.

Refreshments will be served at the show which will be held at the Sierra 2 Center at 2791 24th St. near Broadway. Hours are Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. ■

Assertiveness Training Series Offered

Snow White Champagne Ball for Women Set for December

The 7th Annual Snow White Champagne Ball has been set for Saturday Evening, December 18, 1982 at The Victorian, 917 H Street in Sacramento from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.. The Snow White Champagne Ball is a private, semi-formal Christmas Party for women only. The Ball was established 7 years ago so single and coupled gay women could celebrate the holidays together in a grand and formal setting!

Tickets are available at $15, which includes champagne, hors d'oeuvres, live music, a beautiful Victorian mansion, and a no host bar. For an invitation and/or tickets, mail a check and self-addressed stamped envelope for ticket return by December 13 to Linda D. Birner, 1919 21st Street, Suite 204, Sacramento, CA 95814. (916) 456-5858. No tickets will be available at the door. ■

by Warren "Scoop" Hull

Does the sight of fringed epaulettes make you hot under the collar? Does a spit polish shine on a pair of black leather boots make you drool? Could you go for a man in a uniform in a big way? Well, on the 11th, The Power Plant will hold a Military Ball. So now's your chance to nab the G.I. of your dreams. The following Thursday, on the 18th, The Power Plant celebrates Scorpios at its Scorpio Party (wait until Dr. Pat Larr hears about this one!). And for Thanksgiving, the Plymouth Rock Dance at The Power Plant will rock the place all night long (a turkey will be given away). Sound like a horn of plenty to Scoop.

It seems a lot of new people are discovering the pleasures of The Diamond Butterfly. The crowds just keep getting bigger and bigger every day. Scoop can't say enough about Rita's Magic touch, but you'll also have to meet Linda (Rita's other half) and Mark, who help Rita maintain the friendly atmosphere in the bar. November 5th is pegged for the grand opening, so expect quite a blow-out.

The Wreck Room will be celebrating its second anniversary on the 19th, 20th and 21st. Actually it will be you, the customer, who will be celebrating, for this is The Wreck Room's chance to express appreciation for the success you have made of the bar. The 19th will be Leather Night and even Scoop couldn't discover the surprises they have in store for you. On the 20th they'll have a pool tournament and a Special Red Hot Nuts and Bolts party. You'd be nuts to bolt from this one. And on the 21st, The Wreck Room will hold its anniversary Pig Out with a drawing to be held at 11 for prizes. Look for some physical changes in the bar, too, to make the cruising easier.

Always popular, Veraburgers at The Mercantile are proving even more popular now. Vera aims to please, and she does a great job of it. Grab your basket today.

Yes, you did see another familiar face behind the bar at Anna Maries. Randa is the latest addition to the friendly staff of Anna Maries and it's great to see her. This bar is determined to make the women in the area feel welcome, and they're doing an excellent job.

Changes at the Club 21 — Happy Hour is gone now, but on Wednesday night draft beer is 35 cents and bottle are 75 cents. The Sunday night drink countdown is gone now too, but the Monday night drawing is still going strong. The Tuesday night dinners are still very popular, and now they've added a Sunday Brunch. For $5, you'll be surprised at how much you get. Everyone thinks the new video system in the bar is great, but there are still complaints that the music is too loud.

Thank heavens he can take a joke though. The City restaurant at The Broadway Ltd. is now serving Champagne Brunch from 11-2. Bob Ferrell, your chef, has worked out a lavish menu including a "create your own" omelette at a very reasonable price, and a complimentary glass of champagne comes with your meal.

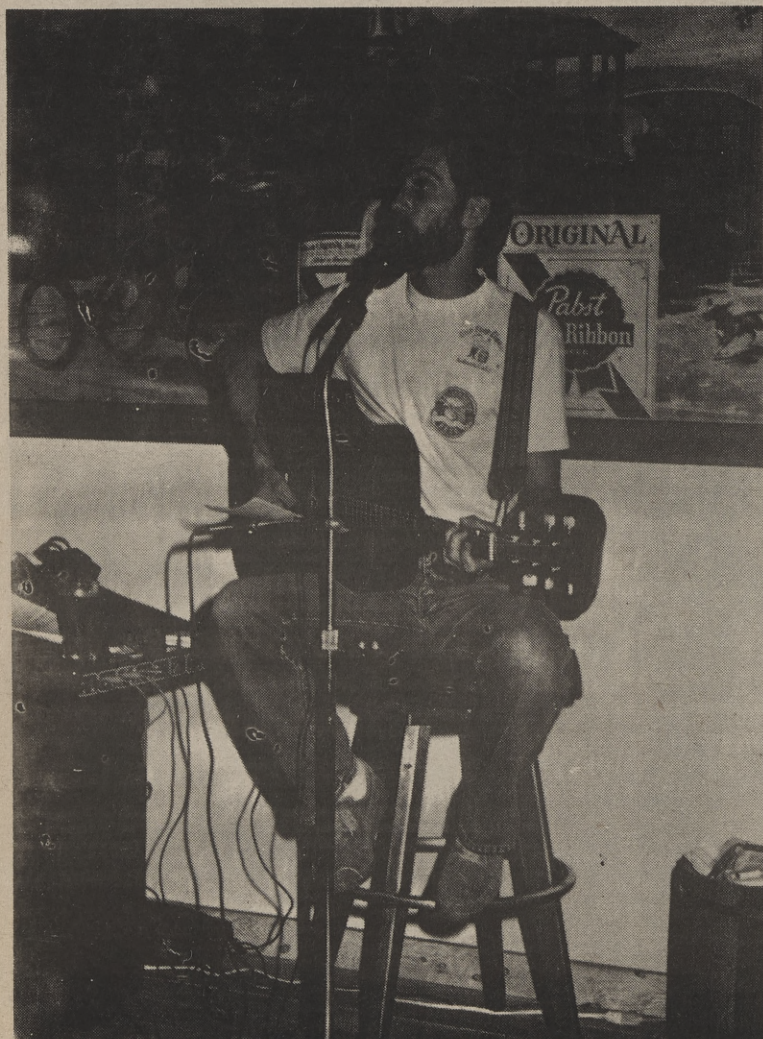

It hasn't been mentioned before, but Scoop feels that Frank Holt deserves to be singled out for a special round of applause for being one of the most thoughtful bar owners in town. He never forgets the special dates and anniversaries of the other bars in town, and always makes some gesture of remembrance whether it's sending the bar a floral arrangement or congratulating the bar in one of The Broadway's own ads. Let's hear it for Frank. ■

Glad to see all the shows that Bojangles has put on lately. They've all been very well run, and it's nice to see the bar used as a sparkling entertainment showcase as well as a hot dance bar.

The Gold Nugget Room at The Parking Lot is the bar everyone heads to now when they go to the P.L. If you haven't seen it yet, do yourself a favor and get out there. There's nothing like it in town.

Scoop has occasionally given Harry-O at The Broadway Ltd. a hard time, but that doesn't mean he isn't a great bartender. He is.

Gary Lynch is currently performing in the Gold Nugget Saloon at the Parking Lot Lounge on Wednesdays from 8 pm - 12 am. Lynch wants to offer an "open mike" for other entertainers to create an opportunity for local musicians to "jam" together. Gary Lynch is also appearing at the Auburn Hotel on Thursday nights and at Champs Steak House Friday thru Sunday.

Aunt Gladys

Dear Aunt Gladys:

Who the hell is Aunt Gladys anyway? I'm writing in regard to your so-called advice to "P in Sacramento" and "Tired of listening to snoring" of the September issue of MGW. "P in Sacto" is having an identity problem which all gays have experienced at least once in their lives, and who are you to tell her to stop fantasizing? Fantasies, for a young inexperienced gay, at times can be their only outlet to feelings of confusion and loneliness.

"Tired of listening" has a problem with a lover who has a drinking problem, which you labeled a "typical drunk." He is obviously an alcoholic and being such has a deadly disease and probably cannot help himself. If Gladys would get her head out of the sauna she might find her column is supposed to help people not discourage them!

Signed — Send Gladys to the Unemployment Line of Sacto

Dear Aunt Gladys:

First off, I would like to say I find your answers or so-called advise (sic) hostile and very cruel to your readers. I too some year's (sic) ago was a "18 year old P in Sacto." I cannot begin to imagine how frightened, embarrassed, not to mention, discouraged, I would have felt if someone told me that my idear (sic) of finding satisfaction with someone ment (sic) I just wanted to knock a piece off! MY GOD! What do you do with all of your time to come up with all of your shitty answers. Secondly, where did you come up with the name "Aunt Gladys" — I find it very hard to believe that you could be anyones (sic) "Aunt (or Uncle)." Where did MGW find this "typical Kook," to write AG column?

"Tired of Aunt Gladys"

I have put these two letters together for several reasons. They both arrived on the same day. They are both written on the same kind of stationery and had the same kind of envelopes and stamps. They could have been written by the same person or two very close friends. None of which is particularly important. What is important is the vehemence of the response.

Both of these letters seem to me to be initial gut reactions, and it is interesting to note that neither writer has read the originally published letters very carefully. "P in Sacto" said that she had had a few steady boyfriends in the past "who have satisfied me" and that she still finds herself searching shopping malls for her type. It is not my point, but hers, that she equates sex, satisfaction, and searching. My question was where were all of the friends she went to school with? And my suggestion was to stop experimenting and fantasizing because she is too young to experiment and fantasy only delays maturity.

One of the most important aspects of growing up and becoming an adult is to see and face and deal with things as they are, not as we would like them to be or dream about them, but as they actually are. Her letter touches upon two of the most distressing aspects of what, for lack of a better term, I will call contemporary life — the availability of sex and the notion that sex, of itself, is the be-all and end-all of human relationships. I personally don't care who or what you get it on with, just so long as you know that that is what it is. It is not love, nor a relationship, nor anything but getting it on. And, because I believe there is so much more, I suggested that she try to meet other young gays through social or religious groups where something besides sex could be the basis for a more rewarding relationship.

As for the letter from "Tired of listening to snoring," I think both of the above letters are gutsy reactions to another letter they have not read carefully. My point about alcoholics, inebrates, or drunks is simply that unless you do something about the condition I have no sympathy for you. Identifying the reason that you steal as kleptomania doesn't mean a thing unless you do something about it.

I am far more aware than you seem to realize that alcoholism is a disease, perhaps psychological or perhaps physiological. But having identified that doesn't mean anything unless you do something about it — counseling, therapy, etc. I you have a toothache, you go to the dentist. If your car doesn't function properly, you go to the mechanic. If you have a drinking problem, you must seek help. If you don't do something, then accept the fact you are a drunk, slobbering, self-indulgent, and a menace to others not only when you drive but by your very presence when you are loud or rude.

It is very sad to see someone who refuses to take medication for any illness like high blood pressure or diabetes. It is equally sad to see someone overeat or undereat or for that matter do anything that is self-destructive. But beyond offering help and support there is not much one can do if the individual will not help himself.

I recognize that the alcoholic is basically a disabled person. But there are people with physical disabilities who strive, no matter how awkward they seem, no matter how grotesque their movements. The alcoholic doesn't even try, and as a result I don't think s/he merits our sympathy. And I think it is fair to call him/her a drunk. ■

Dear Aunt Gladys:

I was happily living with a friend/lover of long standing. We practically grew up together. And then suddenly one day another guy came along and I fell madly in love. There was nothing for me to do but move in with my new lover. Well, the magic wore off pretty fast, and I went back to my real lover. Problem is, he won't take me back. He says I've done this too many times in the past, and, even though he is still fond of me, he will not pick up again. Where do I go from here? How do I get him to understand that this time it will be for real and I won't move out?

Drifting in Sacramento

Dear Drifting:

It is hard to tell from your letter what sort of pattern this has been except to note that you have apparently moved in and out on your lover several times. You have to realize that each of these moves was a strain on the relationship, especially since you do not mention anything having gone wrong, just that you moved elsewhere. I would feel that your lover sees himself as the place you stay when you aren't falling madly in love. It's not particularly reassuring for him and probably not very rewarding in that he never knows when you are going to move. Your notion of love and relationship seems to be based solely on what your glands happen to be telling you at the moment. Since you can't go back, my suggestion is that you fall madly in love again, and try making something more out of it than just a response to springtime urges. I have one question: How could you possibly know that this time it will be for real when it hasn't been time and again in the past? ■

Private Homes Available to Sacramento Men and Women

Two San Francisco businesses are offering new and different alternatives to those visiting the Bay area, and are working together to prove that the "gay capital of the world" truly does offer something unique and affordable.

Directors of Bed-By-The-Bay and G.O.A., together, offer a low cost housing alternative in private Gay homes, and a variety of social events and travel trips in California.

In an effort to stretch the travel dollars, Bed-By-The-Bay has added a "Budget" category to its rate card. For as little as $24.00 a day, Bed-By-The-Bay has bed-and-breakfast accommodations in more than 50 private Gay/Lesbian homes. Most guest rooms are located in the Gay districts of San Francisco, while selected "Special Places" are available in Marin County, 5 minutes from the Golden Gate Bridge. Marin County is famous for its laid-back atmosphere of sailboats, hiking, jogging, and hot tubs. Traditional bed-and-breakfast housing is also offered in northern California's wine country.

G.O.A. is a Gay/Lesbian membership travel and social club which provides a viable social alternative for Gay men and women of all ages and backgrounds. G.O.A. offers weekend travel trips year 'round throughout California, including Russian River Resort trips, camping and rafting trips, massage workshops, ski trips, horseback riding, plus much more. Carpools are set up through the G.O.A. office, making it a great way for out-of-towners to get around without the cost of renting a car, plus automatically having a fun group of Gays to travel with. In San Francisco, G.O.A. also has a wide variety of evening social events including coffee-house, game nights, theatre and restaurant outings, and dayhikes on weekends. G.O.A. will be offering all their trips and social events at members' prices to anyone staying at any of the Bed-By-The-Bay homes. G.O.A. also offers many out-of-state travel trips including Windjammer Sailing Cruises to the Caribbean, Hawaii, Mexico, and Key West Resort trips, and will now start Gay trips to Europe and the Orient.

Bed-By-The-Bay and G.O.A. share the same business goals: Success through customer satisfaction; a quality service that is both personal, reliable and affordable.

To contact Bed-By-The-Bay, write P.O. Box 902, Sausalito, California 94966, or telephone 415-383-7430 or 415-334-7262 (evenings, weekends).

To contact G.O.A. to receive their schedule, write G.O.A. at 549A Castro Street, San Francisco, California 94114, or call 415-621-2400. ■

Joel's Is A Gem With A Crown Jewel

by Marty Kurz

Joel's

Mark serves a variety of cuisines, including French, Italian, English, Spanish and Mexican, the preparation of which he learned primarily during time spent in Europe.

Joel's menu is as extensive and varied as the types of cuisines served, and every item is characterized by excellence of preparation and attention to detail. Dinners include soup, such as a mushroom leak, and salad served with any of Mark's made-on-the-premises-with-fresh-ingredients salad dressings. Pasta that originated in Alfredo's in Rome is then followed with sherbet served inside a carved lemon for clearing the palate.

I selected Tournedos a la Joel as my entree for a recent dinner and was rewarded with some of the most tender, succulent meat I have ever encountered. It was topped with a mouth-watering bordelaise sauce that was made up of veal marrow, among other ingredients. The truffles on which the tournedos were served gave them a final touch of elegance and excellence.

Joel's is tastefully decorated and amid a fairly large facility that is divided into warm and cozy rooms. Its ambience is enhanced with touches such as a table card that says "Welcome to Joel's" with your name(s) printed below, Chopin in the background, attentive service, and an extensive wine list of domestic and imported selections.

Of course, Mark could not create the Joel's experience alone. He is ably assisted in the kitchen by Allyson Thurber and a staff of 25. Burnell Vassar, also formerly of The City, is a gracious hostess and bartender; and Giuseppe is the delightful and competent maitre de who imprints his effervescent style on dinner at Joel's.

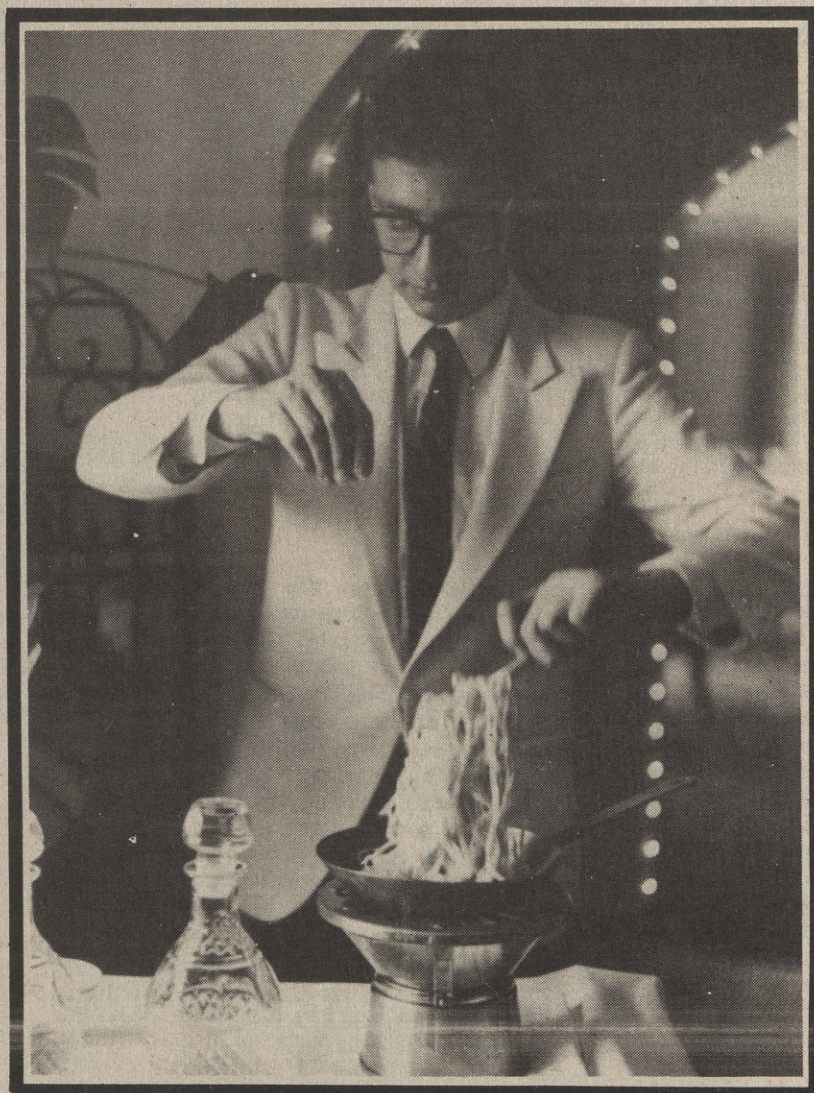

The addition of Mark Westbury as chef solidifies Joel's reputation for excellence in gourmet dining. Any meal partaken there will delight the palate and linger as a memorable experience. Reservations are a must. Joel's is located at 3412 Auburn Blvd. (right off of 180) and can be reached at 486-1348.

Joel's has long enjoyed a reputation as one of Sacramento's finest restaurants, and it has never deserved that reputation more. That's because of the recent addition of Mark Westbury to the staff as head chef (some of MGW's readers may remember Mark as The City's first, premiere chef).

A trip to Joel's will quickly convince the diner that Mark ranks among Sacramento's most talented and creative chefs.

Mark has a passion for freshness in his product as well as for allowing the food to "stand on its own."

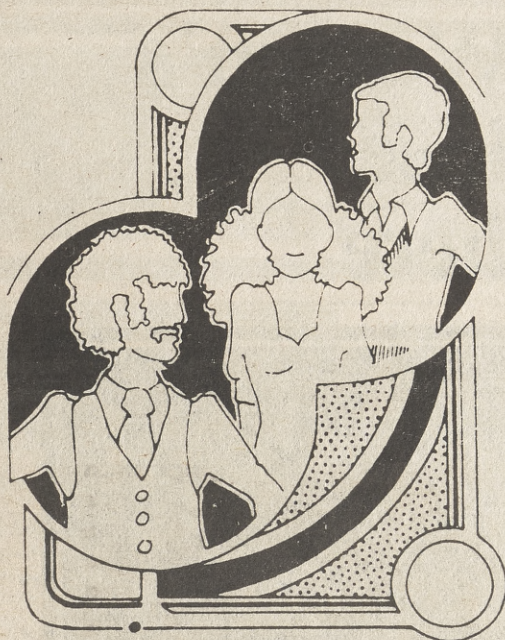

All the seafood served at Joel's is fresh and includes choices from live mussels, fresh oysters, and scallops. Mark also uses only fresh ingredients in his incomparable sauces and soups.

Giuseppe is the wonderful maitre de and occasionally dabbles with a chafing dish. Photos by Linda Birner.

Carmel Panvino

Editor's Note: Carmel Panvino, owner of Hair We Are, has advertised with Mom...Guess What! Newspaper since its inception four years ago. We appreciate his steady support and wish to acknowledge the growth and development of his business during this time.

'Hair We Are' Is Where It's At

by Marty Kurz

Gloria Coviello

There's no greater treat for me than a trip to Hair We Are for my latest perm. I know that I'm going to come out looking as good as I can look (!) and that I'm going to have a great time in the process.

Owner Carmel Panvino and his staff, through competence and congeniality, offer their clients a total service from point of arrival to take off. They offer a warm greeting and a cup of Carmel's cinnamon coffee to all of their customers, and then they let you into their world of repartee during your stay. The communication and interchanges between them are infectious and either delectably fun or interesting.

As if that isn't enough, Carmel and staff have moved to larger, lighter, airier, and more spacious quarters at 2612 J Street - next door to where they were. Glass windows and panels abound to create the light and open look. And the personalities of the staff and services they offer cement the appealing effect of the new digs.

Carmel Panvino has been in the "hair" business for 10 years and has owned Hair We Are for the last four. His goal has been the creation of a professional and congenial salon where the total person can be catered to. While hair care has been the predominant emphasis of Hair We Are, services have been expanded to include facials, manicures, pedicures, and bio-tone body care in keeping with the salon's goal.

Carmel worked as a registered nurse prior to becoming a cosmetician/entrepreneur. He changed his profession to have the satisfaction of seeing results and happiness in people right away, although he continues to spend some of his time in working with the handicapped as well.

Carmel enjoys spreading the word on personal care through teaching classes on subjects such as hair color and make-up in such diverse locations as New York City, Milwaukee, Honolulu, Tulsa, Detroit, Chicago, et. al. These locations provide eloquent tribute to his knowledge and talent, as do his many satisfied customers.

Carmel has lived with Wayne Brummell in the old Land Park area for the last 12 years. They enjoy their home, decorating and hobbies around the home as well as reading, and travelling to Europe together.

Michael Kovstan is Carmel's right-hand-man and ace cosmetician at Hair We Are. He's been in the "hair" business for the last six years and has spent the last year and a half at the salon. He excels in chemical work (perms, etc.) and haircutting. In addition, he's a fascinating conversationalist (and can be quiet, too, if that's your preference).

Gloria Coviello is both a cosmetician and cosmetologist, with the emphasis on the latter. She provides skin care that includes facials and maintenance techniques. Gloria will also be operating the bio-tone equipment that is to be installed soon. This equipment will tone muscles during a 45 minute process that equals relaxation.

Brian Trujillo has come on staff with the recent move to provide affable reception and competent manicure and pedicure services. His presence represents the careful selection of staff which characterizes Hair We Are.

It is that staff and the move to quarters selected to make every visit an incredibly pleasant experience that bring me to recommend hair and body care at Hair We Are without reservation. Certainly, this salon is a classic of the genre — a gift to each patron and to Sacramento. ■

Gay Men Discuss Health and Lifestyle Issues

by Bruce Gunn

Approximately 40 gay men took part in the conference on Gay Men held at the 24th Street Theatre on Saturday, Oct. 15.

Harvey Thompson, M.D. advised all gay men to be tested for Hepatitis B and said there are plans being made to enable gay men to obtain low cost screening in Sacramento. Sandy Pomerantz, M.D. spoke about herpes and Kaposi Sarcoma, also known as the gay cancer, and encouraged men to be careful and selective in their sexual practices.

Dan Rudd, local LCSW in private practice, facilitated the panel discussion on Gay Fathers. Panel members considered various parenting options (from their personal experience) which ranged from biological fathering to adoption.

Robert Miller, M.D. presented information on Single Gay Men and particular health considerations. Miller discussed the recently diagnosed Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome which seems to be caused by "hard living" such as heavy use of drugs and alcohol combined with lack of sleep and personal stress. Miller strongly encouraged gay men to consider modification of their lifestyle until research determines remedies for this illness.

Harvey Rosenthal, M.D. spoke on Gay Couples with particular reference to the work of McWerner and Madison. These San Diego therapists have defined six stages in the establishment of a gay couple ranging from the beginning stage of Blending to the final stage called Repartnering.

Audience reaction to the conference seemed to focus on the medical issues and their ramifications for the health and lifestyle of gay men. The conference was moderated by Ed Hall, Ph.D. and organized largely by Elizabeth Harrison, M.D. for the Sacramento Women's Center. ■

Richard Gray Bids Farewell to Sacramento

by Paul Schierenberg

While not quite saying goodbye to Sacramento singer, songwriter, author, poet and self-acknowledged pencil collector Richard Gray bid farewell to this cities inhabitants. With the help and support of five equally talented women (Barbara June Dodge, Sallyt Elliot, Marlene G. Meyer, Mary Elva Kouklis and Linda Smith by name), Gray played before a small audience of what appeared to be close friends and followers in the Sierra II Community Theatre on Saturday, October 16.

While his stay in Sacramento has been relatively short (3 years), Gray has managed to fulfill several life-long ambitions while here. Chief among them are his contributions as a writer to MGW and, by his own admission, his richly rewarding and satisfying career as a department store clerk. But alas, Gray is choosing to forego his

Gray didn't say goodbye to those of us in attendance so much as he left us with remembrances of his existence and presence in our lives. Combining song, poetry and prose (some of which has appeared in MGW in the past) Gray left us with his impressions of life in this city, more specifically, gay life in this city - in all of its sorrow and joy, its splendor and its flaws. It is regrettable that this author is unable to provide titles to the material presented as no program was offered and the house lights were inadequate to take notes by (my only complaint I might add).

Gray will certainly be missed in Sacramento, as will his writing and talent. However, his last farewell to its inhabitants left no doubt that he will be remembered for his talent, his humor and his love. Bye Richard - it was good.

The "entourage" included six Sacramentans, 70 San Franciscans and 20 gays from the Los Angeles area. One trendsetter who had seen the "Castle" many times felt the trip was special because of the warm welcome from Amtrak and from the "Castle" staff.
